HOUSE,

Jackson, O.,

Go to the City Hall to-night, and hear Beverly's Troupe.

See advertisement of our good old friend, Joseph Andres. He keeps a good house.

James Tripp, and Hiram Dickason, students at the Ohio University, arrived at home last night.

Desiring to attend the debate last night, we did not go to the theater, but we learn from those who were present that the City Hall was well filled, and that the performance was quite satisfactory. As this troupe will give their last performance to-night, all should attend.

James W. Byrd, Benjamin McClellan, and John Dickerson request us to say that their names were put on the posters for the Emancipation Celebration without their knowledge or consent, and that they are in no way connected with the management of the Celebration.

There is a place on Portsmouth Street, from the corner of the Public Square to the M. E. Church, where a pavement ought to be made. Cannot our village authorities look to this?

We are pleased to know that Jackson can now boast of as good hotel accommodations as any town of its size in this part of the State. It is said that the Iham House is a good place to stop, and we know that the Gibson House is a first-rate place, as we have been boarding there for the past three weeks.

Wm. C. Eagle, of Rio Grande, Gallia county, is now here, and talks of coming to Jackson or vicinity to reside. He is a good citizen, and just such a man as is desirable in any community. Mr. Eagle has some five or six hundred acres of land in Gallia county, which he would swap for lands near this place. Or he would trade part of it for a small tract, say forty acres, or less, in this vicinity.

J. L. Jones read during the debate last night some documents that ought forever to shut the mouth of I. T. Monahan when he wants to howl about salary grabs, fraud and corruption. Mr. Jones read from the Jackson Herald of 1870, a direct charge that I. T. Monahan, while acting as School Director in this village, had attempted to swindle the school children out of the sum of from ten to twenty-five cents each, in the exchange of school books. The Herald not only charged that Dr. I. T. Monahan was a cheat and a liar, but it attempted to prove it. How near it came to making its proof good, will be shown hereafter, when we will publish these articles. It must be remembered that the Herald was then, and is now, the recognized organ of the Democratic party of this county, and the same man who edited the paper then, and made these damaging and serious charges, is the editor now.

Shortly after the Prohibitionists nominated a county ticket, it will be remembered that a number of journalists, whose genius had long been wasted in the ore banks, the coalings, and over the dish-pan, came forward and battled earnestly "for the right," with their quills, through the columns of the STANDARD. Among the rest, Bro. Eli Backus came boldly up to the scratch, and did his level best for the cause. Eli, however, was unfortunate, in possessing superior genius to one of the boldest scribblers, and the consequence was, (we being but mortal), a spirit of envy was aroused, and above you will see the result of this local quarrel. The energetic bird in front represents our friend, Bro. Backus, as pursued by the "crowing hen."

It was an interesting sight to see our newsboys yesterday. In addition to those named the first day, we had several others. At half past three our splendid Fairhaven press went to work, turning off our edition. Ten bright, lively boys went to folding the papers. We did not let any start until all was ready. Each had his beat for delivery to subscribers, and each took ten extra papers to sell. When all were ready they started, and they made the town lively during the next fifteen minutes. The first who sold his ten and returned for more was Edwin Jones. Next came Asa Messenger, and so on. Edwin had the best territory, being Broadway Street, between Main and Pearl.

All our boys did well. They are active little fellows. God bless them. We hope they may make good, useful men. Dr. I. T. Monahan in his speech during the debate at the Court House last night said that he believed that the wages of members of Congress remained at eight dollars per day up to the year 1862. The Dr. seems to be very poorly posted, for a man who has been spoiling for a debate for the past three months. We remember O. F. Moore voted in 1855 or '56, when that he was in Congress from this district, to raise his own salary from eight dollars per day to three thousand dollars per year, and that the act was passed at that time. Mr. Moore went over to the Democratic party at that time, and that party then had a large majority in Congress. That law doubled the salaries of Congressmen, and it was a strictly Democratic measure.

Last night we were shown a letter from New Straitsville, in which it was claimed that a sufficiency of ore had been discovered to justify the erection of furnaces in that vicinity. The ore has been examined by competent furnacemen at this place, and found to be of excellent quality. Every one is aware of the fact that the coal mines of New Straitsville cannot be surpassed for thickness of seam of coal, and the quality is only second to the celebrated Jackson shaft coal. This coal is used extensively at Zanesville, Columbus, and other places, we believe, in the manufacture of pig iron.

Since we wrote the article about Beverly's theater, we have seen Mr. Beverly, and he informs us that the good people of Jackson have patronized him so liberally that he has consented to give another entertainment to-morrow night, which will positively be his last in this place, as he will go to Waverly on Monday.

Dr. Holcomb of New York is going to locate in this place. He is a cousin to Gen. A. T. Holcomb of Gallia county. Dr. Holcomb was Assistant Surgeon in the 36th O. V. I. during the war. He went into the service as a private soldier.

Do not forget to patronize Savages' red wagon, on the Fair Ground, and elsewhere, that you may find it. Great bargains are to be had at and around that red wagon.

We set out in our Daily to notice all the new buildings commenced in Jackson since January 1, 1873, but we found our little paper was scarcely sufficient to contain them. The fine new residences put up by Mr. Dever near the Chilli-cothe Bridge, and all the buildings in Jamestown, and many others, have been omitted.

It is admitted by all who know, that J. C. Cahoon can take as fine likenesses as can be taken in this part of the State. All he asks is, that you call and see specimens of his work. He has had a great many years experience in the business, and keeps fully up with all improvements in the business. Remember the place, over Globe Furnace Store, Main St., opposite the Public Square.
